

To whom it may concern.

I am beginning to have my suspicions about one of your dealers / croupiers. The amount of wins on one of the roulette tables seemed well below the average, and on closer inspection, the ball definitely did not roll properly. Several of the payouts were also questionable. I refer, of course, to the croupier who refuses to wear the staff uniform. Does this man have preferential treatment for some reason?

I ask you to check the credentials of all of your floor staff, and end this unfairness, or else I will have to take this matter to the authorities.

I look forward to hearing your reaction to this letter
